15 The deposition of SAMANTHA YOUNG, called 16 for examination by counsel for the Defendant, in 17 the above entitled matter, pursuant to notice, at 18 the Offices of the Corporation Counsel, 441 Fourth
19 Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., convened at 20 a.m., before Jennifer M. O'Connor, a notary public 21 in and for the District of Columbia, when were 22 present on behalf of the parties:

1 A We returned all the paperwork. They 2 filled in the arresting officer part, because that 3 would have been useful information, but they were 4 like, well, we don't know which one of us -- so
5 just leave it blank for now, and we're like all
6 right.

7 And we asked him what we would be charged
8 with and he said he didn't know, probably failure
9 to obey, and we were like, "Obey what?" He was 10 like, "Well, I don't know." Like, "All right. Not 11 trying to make you mad," you know.

12 So we sat in the grass and talked and 13 tried to decide whether we wanted to post and 14 forfeit or go in front of a judge and like the main
15 reason I decided to post and forfeit is because I
16 couldn't afford to be out of work til Wednesday.

17 Even if it was only Tuesday, I couldn't 18 afford to be out of work til Tuesday. I mean, it's 19 Friday. So as we got closer to the door, when we 20 got on the sidewalk, one by one, the officers that 21 were on our bus that were accompanying us left.

22 First, it was Officer Savage. She just

00122

1 bounced. I don't know where she went. Then
2 Officer Julie was like, "I'm going to the 3 bathroom," and we never saw her again. Then the 4 gentleman passed us off to an African-American cop
5 who was walking out of the building.

6 He was like, "Hey, can you watch these 7 guys for a little while," and then he never came 8 back. So he became our arresting officer, because 9 he had to fill out all the paperwork.

10 Q The African-American gentleman.

11 A Yes. Who had never seen us before. And 12 we just started talking to him. We were like, you 13 know, "What are we going to jail for" and he's 14 like, "I don't know." And were like, "Well, you're 15 our arresting officer now," and he was like, "But I 16 didn't see you do anything, so I really can't go to 17 court and testify against you. You guys should all 18 plead" -- and we're like, "Oh, great. This is 19 great information."

20 You know, like nobody knew, we did not 21 know like what to make of the situation. So we're 22 sitting there on the steps, like so close to the

00123

1 door, yet so far, you know, and we're trying to
2 like try to hear what is going on when you get past
3 the door, but you just can't hear what is going on 4 in there.

5 So eventually a gentleman comes out and he 6 says, "I'm going to call out your names," and he 7 has our paperwork that we filled out on the bus and 8 he assigns us a person to escort us through.

9 They're all young guys who are dressed in 10 dark pants and dark shirts and have rubber gloves
11 on no identification.

12 Q Any badges?

13 A Nothing. Later on, in the basement,
14 someone refers to them as cadets. I don't know if 15 that's what they were or not. So I started asking 16 my guy like, "What's up? What's going on?" And 17 he's like, "When you get to that desk," will I turn 18 in my book bag, my shoelaces and my earrings and 19 stuff.

20 I need to tell them whether I'm going to 21 post and forfeit or see a judge. And I was like,
22 "I don't know." He was like, "Well, if you don't

00124

1 know now, you know, you got to decide now because 2 if you don't know now, you're just going to go --
3 you're automatically going to go down in the gym
4 and have to wait til Wednesday. You tell them you
5 post and forfeit or you automatically choose to go
6 to jail til Wednesday."

7       And I'm like, "Whoa. All right." So they 8 asked me when I got there, "Is this your stuff?"
9 "Yes." "Does this accurately" -- like you fill out
10 that personal effects thing. Okay. "Are you sure 11 this is accurate? Do you have any rings," and fill 12 out all that paperwork.

13       Okay. "Are you going to post and forfeit
14 or are you going to choose to contest?" I'm like, 15 "I'll post and forfeit." She's like, "All right.
16 Cool. Go in there." All right. That was great.

17       I go into this room where there's four 18 laptops and there's two people manning them at that 19 time, and there's a table and they take us in one
20 at a time, and I stand there and I give them all 21 the information. Oh, no, I took a picture first.

22       I took a picture first. I'm sorry.
